REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING NEWS

$5,700, also purchased for permanent investment. Also a West Broad Street lot for $10,000, that will be improved in the future, and some acreage property near Dumbarton and Green Station.

Brown & Co., also report having located in Nos. 304-306 West Broad Street the new furniture concern of Reams, Bailey & Co., wholesale and retail dealers in furniture, floor coverings, etc. This firm is the successor to the firm of Reams Furniture Company, who were formerly located at 1535 East Main Street. Not many years ago the furniture centre was on Governor Street, between Main and Franklin Streets, but like the rest of Richmond, it has grown westward, and now Broad and Adams Streets is the furniture centre.

This new addition to the furniture centre of Richmond occupies the hand some new stores on the north side of Broad Street. Besides the store floors and cellars, they occupy three immense floors above. The fact of the necessity of their acquiring larger quarters and invading the centre of the furniture district is evidence of their success and prosperity.

Taken altogether the transactions within the city limits added to those of the suburbs for the week just closed amounted to nearly $175,000, which is not a bad week's work considering the cool weather and the many other drawbacks that had to be encountered. For instance, the men who advertised auction sales had a mighty hard time because of bad weather, and but few sales were made at auction.

Out in the Suburbs.
The cool weather had a bad effect on the dealers in suburban property, nevertheless they did some business. For instance the pioneer suburb on the Petersburg-Richmond electric line had something of a busy week. Of course, the village of Bensley is referred to. Several new families have been added to the village, among which is that of Dr. J. L. McDonald, who will practice his profession there. Ground was broken for another house, a concrete block building, to cost $3,500, and four of the best lots, aggregating fourteen acres, changed hands in the last four days. Every evening large crowds of sightseers on the property, which shows that it is occupying the attention of the home-seeking public.

The cool waves came and there was awkward traveling the suburbs, but all the same Woodland Heights loomed up in good shape and several sales were made there the past week.

Cool weather or no, cool weather, there is said to be continued activity in the building line at Ginter Park. President Funsten tells me that very rapid progress is being made on all the buildings that were commenced out there in the early spring. He says the contractor, Mr. J. W. Bannan, on the corner of Moss and Laburnum Avenues.

John H. Reed, of the Southern Railroad, moved into his handsome new home on Seminary Avenue last week, and the residence of Charles D. Larus.

Colonial Place.
Colonial Place is a new suburb just opened up. This is an extension beyond the Boulevard of Park Avenue, Franklin Street, Patton Avenue, Leonard Street, and some other very desirable territory along the Rosemeath Road. It is a subdivision of something like forty acres, which means 360 desirable lots. The Abbey Real Estate Corporation, of which J. G. Neal is the president, has this property in hand. This is the same company which made Lee Annex a certain Graded streets, granolithic sidewalks, many shade trees and other attractions are the considerations worth considering in Colonial Place.

Auction Sales This Week.
It is true that the bad weather of the past week rather interfered with auction sales, but the bad weather can't last always and several interesting auction sales are announced for this week. Among them may be mentioned that of Green & Redd, who will offer at 5:30 next Thursday ten beautiful Lee District houses and lots. Four of these houses have just been completed, and have every modern convenience, and are now ready for occupancy. They are Nos. 201, 203, 205, 207 North Elm Street.

A new real estate concern branched off the past week and opened up an office at 502 Franklin Street. It styles itself Epps, Epps & Co. This firm is composed of Frank D. Epps, for many years with McVeigh & Glinn; Jack L. Epps, for seven years with the firm of N. W. Bowe & Son, and A. C. Becker, who for a quarter of a century has been in the public life through his connection with the Union News Company, being Southern manager of that company. The new firm will do a general real estate and rental business.

Real Estate Clearings.
The month of May was completed with the month of May. W. E. Purcell, Jr., of the real estate firm of W. E. Purcell, Jr., Co., cleared up as follows:

Old city lots—Improved, $748,370; lots, $157,781. Annexed section—Improved, $13,220; lots, $109,159. Suburban lots and improved, $154,426; suburban houses, $259,622. Total, $1,512,618.
